Lemons are used for soap in many countries where they grow. When, for instance, the men and women of the West Indies want to wash their hands they squeeze the juice of a lemon over them briskly in water until they are clean. There is an acid in the lemon similar to that used in soap. And in countries where oranges grow in great plenty country gentlemen use the cheapest kind for blacking their boots. The orange is cut in two, and the juicy side of one half is rubbed on the soot of an iron pot and then on the boot. Then the boot is rubbed with a soft brush and a bright polish at once appears.

Dr. Bigelow's Stomach and Liver Pills Are a perfect "system regulator" and "system renovator." These pills are entirely different from any that have ever been offered the public, being the result of the researches of an eminent physician and chemist, containing no minerals or other injurious substances.
